Do you know what the responsibilities for the Principal are under NZS3915 where there is no 'Engineer' to the Contract?

This course is delivered as a live on-line zoom session with our trainer and other participants.

Or the rules for handling disputes? Because this standard is based on the 2003 version of NZS3910, it is simpler, but has significant differences from the 2023 version, particularly in relation to term maintenance contracts.

This course, from a practical and 'hands-on' point of view, will benefit Clients, Consultants and Contractors wanting to know the key requirements of NZS3915 as well as the differences between this standard and NZS3910: 2023, the General Conditions of Contract where there is an Engineer to Contract.

This course is designed for people who are already familiar with NZS3910:2023

Topics include

- Overview of each standard NZS3915
- Points of difference from NZS3910

On completion of this course participants will

- Understand the key requirements of NZS3915:2005
- Use slides identifying the key texts in NZS3915 which are different

Who should attend

Contract and Project Managers, supervisors, engineers'/contractors' representatives, as well as experienced personnel wishing to improve their knowledge of this specialist conditions of contract.
